The left hand photo shows an HM 1300 / HM 1800 mounted on a stand kit. The right hand photo shows the HM 6500 / HM 7600 mounted on a stand kit. They also have the roller brackets attached to the stand kit to allow easy fluent movement of layflat tubing. On the back of the machine is attached the retainer assembly, which holds the layflat tubing in place to stop it falling down off the machine once a seal and cut has been finished. Rollers and brackets are available for the smaller hand held machines again for producing bags from layflat tubing. See the third smaller image.
